An Interesting Jumble Of News And Comment.

Nicholasville is to have a telephone exchange.

James Woodard, 18, drowned while bathing near Nicholasville, Saturday.

Two hours after his death $1,900 was received at Lexington for Randolph Johnson, a negro, who had applied for a pension.

Thomas Kendall, a machinist, was shot and killed by J. N. Seuff, his partner, at Mt. Sterling in a dispute over money matters, Saturday.

J. King, of Richmond, has two nuggets of gold and silver which he says he found in Estill county. He will have them analyzed, and has hopes of striking a good thing.

Five men have been arrested in Mercer county charged with having been members of the mob which burned the barn of Farmer Shelton and fired on him when he tried to save his property.

Second Lieutenant Daniel Duncan, son of ex-Mayor H. T. Duncan, of Lexington, drowned while bathing in Lake Michigan, Saturday, near Fort Sheridan. He was seized with cramps and rowed before help could reach him.

Fire at Wilmore Saturday morning destroyed the Wilmore and Green Hotels, Thos. Barr's undertaking and furniture establishment, Joplin & Co.'s store and Whitman's cigar factory. Total loss about $17,000; insurance, $10,000.

In Louisville, Police Judge Thompson holds that the osteopaths must comply with the State laws governing the practice of medicine. Dr. Byron C. Axtel, who is practicing osteopathy without a physician's license, was yesterday fined $50.

Saturday and Sunday were red-letter days for blood-spilling in Kentucky: Dan McReynolds was shot and killed near Hopkinsville, and George Oldham was stabbed to death at a negro festival, near Maysville, Saturday night. Harlan Brown was killed during a fight between John Frazier and George Smith at Jackson by a shot from a Winchester rifle in the hands of Frazier. John Reece, at McKee, stabbed to death George Garrett and fatally cut his brother. Henry Daniels was mortally wounded by Coon Young, near Owensville, Sunday.

PUBLIC SALE

— OF A —

FINE BLUE-GRASS FARM

NEAR PARIS, KY.

I will offer at public sale on the premises, on

Wednesday, Sept. 15th, 1897,

at 10 o'clock a. m., the farm belonging to the estate of Socrates Bowles, deceased, known as the "Goodman Place," and is the same conveyed by E. B. Bishop and Lizzie R. Bishop, his wife, to said Bowles. (See Deed Book 73, page 294, in the Clerk's office of the Bourbon County Court.)

The farm lies four miles east of Paris, Ky., on the Paris & Jacktown turnpike, and contains 233 acres, 3 roads and 391 poles of first-class bluegrass land, all well fenced and abundantly supplied with everlasting springs and pools for live stock and is mostly now in grass.

The improvements consist of a modern built two-story frame residence situated in a lovely woodland, with lawn extending to the pike, and contains a hall and seven rooms, bath room, kitchen and pantry, a long veranda in front, with rear porches above and below, handsome cabinet mantels and tile hearths in each room, and all handsomely papered, and finished in walnut and cherry. There is a large dry cellar of several rooms with inside and outside entrances; a splendid cistern of pure water at the door. There are four servants' rooms, ice house, barns, stables, carriage-house, meat and poultry houses with yards, and all necessary outbuildings; a fine orchard; in fact, with the location, valuable improvements and the fertility of its soil, it is one of the most desirable homes in the Bluegrass region of Kentucky.

Mr. N. H. Bayless, of Paris, Ky., will take pleasure in showing the farm to anyone, or will furnish any additional information desired.

TERMS:—One-third cash in hand; one-third March 1, 1898; one-third March 1, 1899—deferred payments to bear interest at six per cent, per annum from day of sale until paid. Possession given immediately after first payment is made.

I will also sell at the same time:

2 extra work mules;
1 cow;
Lot of corn and hay;
Farm implements;
Some furniture etc.

The property of the deceased.

HER ONLY FAULT.

As I went to my bachelor chamber one night
And reflected on life as I put out the light
I resolved that the clubs I would visit no more,
But devote my affections to dear Isadore.

She is faultless in figure and lovely in face,
Every movement the very perfection of grace—
So confiding and gentle, congenial and sweet
That the stoics and cynics are all at her feet.

Like the wings of the humming bird over the keys

Fly her tapering fingers in Liszt's potpourri;
She excels on the harp and the Spanish guitar,
And her voice is soprano that reaches to fa.

She is witty and brilliant in quick repartees,
And she sings cavatinas with marvelous E's,
Conversation in German and French can sustain,
And has traveled in Italy, Egypt and Spain.

All the tender emotions so scented before
Were aroused in my heart for the fair Isadore,
But my growing affections are nipped in the bud,
For she will drag her skirts through the streets in the mud!

—W. H. Morris in New York Ledger.

A WONDERFUL POND.

Human Eyes Are Often Inhabited by Large Numbers of Living Creatures.

The water contained in a well developed, well formed eye in which the sight is not impaired, more especially where a person is farsighted, presents many curious phenomena. Looking through an open window in daylight upon a hazy atmosphere or upon a fog such as is seen in any city, or looking to the north upon a gray atmosphere, one will see, if conditions are as above, strange disks flitting and jumping about in the eye water. It has been my privilege to watch these organisms for several years, flitting about in the eye water, jumping toward each other again in strife and combat, in the which the water would become comparatively clear of amoebiform organisms, only to be again full of micrococci and the combats as above.

The various shapes of these animalcules are surprising. Some are attenuated, with fine filaments. Again, others are like wee bits of fine porcelain, with little projections, reminding one of turtles hopping about. Again, others present the appearance of cyclops and daphne.

How these organisms get into the eye water is a mystery—perhaps in the water we drink or foods we eat, either or both. The fact that the eye water is inhabited, like all other bodies of water, is a truth that can be proved positively, beyond peradventure, by any oculist when he may extract a diseased eye and place the fluid under the glass.

May not the accumulation of these organisms in the eye water, their rapid growth and the survival of the fittest or strongest be the cause of much blindness, wherein may be casts, coagulation of the eye water, so called paralysis of the optic nerve, cataracts and other forms of disease?

May not numerous headaches and other pains be caused by the overaccumulation or growth of these minute organisms, in which they stop the circulation of the active principle of life in the arterial circulation or the nervous forces? The same organisms are seen when looking upon drawing paper.—William W. Goodrich in New York Herald.

Senator Pettus' Prophecy.

This is a story that an Alabamian tells about Senator Pettus and ex-Senator Pugh: "During Mr. Cleveland's first administration Mr. Pettus was anxious to fill the place on the supreme court bench to which Senator Lamar was afterward appointed. He applied to his friend Senator Pugh, and the latter made an earnest and sincere appeal for the appointment of Mr. Pettus. The president inquired as to the age of Pettus, and when informed said he was too old. Senator Pugh communicated this fact to Pettus, and also suggested to another eminent but younger lawyer in his state to apply for the place, as it was a settled fact that a southern man would surely succeed to the vacancy. Senator Pettus heard of Senator Pugh's letter to the other friend, and it made him mad. Coming to Washington, he called on Pugh and asked him why he did not stand out for him. Pugh explained that Mr. Cleveland would not alter his determination about not appointing a man of Pettus' age, but this did not satisfy Pettus. Before leaving Pugh Pettus said, 'Well, I may be too old to sit on the supreme bench of the land, but I am not too old to sit in the senate, and your seat will just about fit me.' Pettus was as good as a prophet. He succeeded Senator Pugh on the 4th of March last, and if I am not mistaken occupies the identical seat which Pugh occupied during a former term. Senator Pugh was 77 last December. Senator Pettus is 76."—Washington Post.

Strange Domestic Pets.

Mr. Hutchison, while British resident at Kumasi, had a panther presented to him by the king of Ashanti. This animal he succeeded in taming and transformed from a forest terror into a domestic pet. Charles James Fox had a young tiger which showed great affection for him, until one day, while licking its master's hand, it scraped off the skin. At the first taste of blood its dormant instincts returned, and its glaring eyes revealed to Mr. Fox his danger. Without attempting to remove his hand he led it by gentle words into the next room, where a loaded pistol hung over the mantelpiece. Reaching it down, he shot his now dangerous pet through the head.

Will Learn.

Jabsley—These novelists make me tired. The idea of a "withering glance!" As if any one could be withered by a mere look.

Wickwise—You are young yet, Jabsley. You never stepped on your wife's train at a ball."—Pearson's Weekly.

Easily Done.

She—What a beautiful name you have, Mr. Montross.
He—You like it, my lady? Take it.—Detroit Free Press.

In my introductory advertisement I have sacrificed perspicuity for ornament.

But this will not hinder me from filling every order I receive with choice peaches. Our next variety to ripen will be the Elberta, a large, freestone, yellow peach. Suitable for canning or preserving and nice for dessert.
